Biography

After working as a financial analyst for various corporations in Houston, I returned to graduate school to prepare for a career in teaching. I added an M.A. and completed all of the requirements for a Ph.D. in British and American Literature save writing my dissertation. I have taught English at The University of Houston, The Kinkaid School, and The Awty International School for the past 17 years. In addition, I coached field hockey, softball, and tennis while at Kinkaid.

I recognize the importance of good nutrition, both to optimize performance in the classroom and to promote healthy lifestyles generally. I joined the Food Service Committee to add representation from the Upper School faculty.
